BBC Motion Gallery

Profile of the company

As the world's first television broadcaster, the BBC owns a diverse, high-quality library of motion imagery. BBC Motion Gallery is the BBC's agent for licensing all footage from this world-class collection. Now, for the first time ever, you can have hands-on access to this cultural treasure through www.bbcmotiongallery.com. At launch in June 2004 the website offered customers thousands of clips to download and this was just the beginning.

With offices in London, New York, Los Angeles, Toronto, Sydney and Tokyo, BBC Motion Gallery offers a truly international approach to this creative resource.

To complement the core collection, BBC Motion Gallery is also the exclusive representative of the CBS News Archive.

As well as 52 years of BBC TV we have a comprehensive short programme and production resource collection.

Programmes from this collection have been broadcast across the world in a variety of locations including hair-dressers, trains, exhibitions and bars.
